100+ People Working at Shore Club Construction Site

With the Shore Club's concrete basement slab poured and dried, construction is well under way at the Shore Club.

Well over 100 people are now working at the job site on Long Bay Beach each day. Hartling Group CEO Stan Hartling reports that the majority of the workers are Belongers.

"We're so pleased to be achieving excellent progress, both in terms of construction, and also on our vision to produce a significant impact on the local economy. Putting this many people to work with good paying jobs is very satisfying for us."

Hartling notes that in addition to producing new jobs, new condo buyers have signed up to own a Shore Club condo since construction started.

"Obviously having shovels in the ground gives potential buyers more confidence in the project," states Hartling. "We have achieved a number of new sales since the start of 2014, which in turn produces more stamp tax revenue. It's a winning combination for everyone."

In addition to the basement slab, the ground floor slab has been poured and walls have been erected. Construction on the first phase of the $100 million resort community is expected to be completed by December 2015.
